THE WATERMARKS ARE INTENTIONAL.
Because after all, those are raws which we purchase and scan and then are uploaded by some people to those earn-money-for-every-dl sites
Also, some raws have watermarks because they're requested by scanlators
If someone wants the unwatermarked raw for scanlation, all they have to do is send us an e-mail at admin@rawdistro.net
We provide the unwatermarked ones to them in a much higher quality, and we then release public versions of the raw with a small watermark.
